

Organizations and Agencies

In affiliation footnotes, we use two-letter abbreviations for US states; we spell out Post Box and provinces of Canada.

The following are used as abbreviations in author affiliation footnotes:

CERN	Conseil Européen des Recherches Nucleaires, now Organisation Européenne pour la Recherche Nucleaire also European Center for Nuclear Research	OK as is
CNRS	Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique	OK as is
EA	Équipe d'Accueil, e.g., EA 3620	OK as is

UNESCO	United Nations Educations, Scientific, and Cultural Organization	OK as is

In the acknowledgement footnote, we use the following abbreviations but spell them out if they occur elsewhere:

NIH
NSF

Institutional Acronyms

Institution names are sometimes provided by authors only in acronym form. When this occurs, except for names whose acronyms are classified OK as is in the following list, spell out the acronym; if it is used more than once, define the acronym by placing it in parentheses after the spelled-out form at its first use (sft).

Not listed are some well-known corporate acronyms that are OK as is (for example, IBM, AT&T, 3M). Universities and their subsets are not listed, but it is sometimes helpful to introduce an acronym (sft) for later use (SUNY, MIT, etc.).
